TOOL 01

The Whole-Life Snapshot

Before you can build momentum, you need to know where you actually are — not a report card, just an honest look. Rate each area from 1 (very dissatisfied) to 10 (completely fulfilled).

REFLECT

Which area scored lowest?

And which one, if it shifted even a little, would lift everything else?

TOOL 02

The Energy Audit

You can't fill from an empty cup — but first you have to see what's draining it. Burnout builds in tiny, invisible leaks. Take ten minutes. Be honest with yourself.

PART ONE — WHAT'S DRAINING YOU

What feels heaviest right now — the things I can't stop thinking about...

The obligations I show up to but quietly resent...

The habits or patterns that keep getting in the way...

PART TWO — WHAT RESTORES YOU

The last time I felt truly rested, or like myself, I was...

The small joys I've let go of that I want back...

The people who leave me feeling energized, not depleted...

> The gap between what drains you and what restores you is your starting point.

TOOL 03

The Identity Reset Prompts

Somewhere between the roles and the relentless doing, you lost the thread of who you actually are. Write without editing yourself. Give each prompt at least ten minutes — or spread them across five days.

1 Before life got this busy, I used to be someone who...

2 The version of me I'm most proud of was when I...

3 If no one needed anything from me for a whole day, I would...

4 The woman I want to become would describe herself as...

5 One thing I know to be true about myself that I've been forgetting lately...

TOOL 04

The Contrast Page

You've just looked at where you are and who you've been. Now let's gently name the gap.

> EXAMPLE (SO YOU CAN SEE WHAT HONEST LOOKS LIKE)
> Right now my life feels like... I'm managing everything well, but I'm not actually in it. The version of me that feels most like home would feel... Present. Lighter. Like I belong in my own days again.

Your answers don't need to sound pretty. They just need to be true.

NOW COMPLETE THESE TWO SENTENCES IN YOUR OWN WORDS

Right now my life feels like...

The version of me that feels most like home would feel...

Sit with both sentences for a moment.

That gap is not a failure. It's the reason you've felt foggy or quietly tired of yourself.

What feels most true when you look at both sides?

TOOL 05

The 5-Pillar Clarity Checklist

This isn't about doing more. It's about seeing clearly where you stand — then choosing one small, realistic step. Whole-life wellness works from the inside out.

Sleep

Am I waking rested — or surviving on caffeine and willpower?

ONE SMALL STEP

Pick one bedtime this week and protect it. Phone down 30 minutes before.

Movement

Does my body feel cared for, or like something I'm dragging?

ONE SMALL STEP

Add one 10-minute walk, outside if you can. No agenda.

Nourishment

Am I fueling with intention, or eating on autopilot?

ONE SMALL STEP

Make one real, nourishing meal. Sit and eat it without your phone.

Stress

Am I in chronic overdrive, or do I have moments of genuine calm?

ONE SMALL STEP

Try 4-7-8 breathing: inhale 4, hold 7, exhale 8. Three times today.

Connection

Do I feel genuinely seen — or am I giving without receiving?

ONE SMALL STEP

Reach out to one person this week — just to connect.

MY PRIORITY PILLAR THIS WEEK

MY ONE SMALL STEP — WRITTEN DOWN, SO IT'S REAL

BEFORE THE LETTER

One Honest Next Step

Looking at everything you've written, what is one small, kind step you could take this week that would move you even slightly toward the version of you that feels like home?

Write it here (keep it small enough that it actually feels doable):

TOOL 06

A Letter from Cylee

Dear friend,

If you're holding this kit right now, something brought you here that's more than curiosity. Maybe you're exhausted in a way that sleep doesn't fix. Maybe you've been telling yourself you'll feel better when — when the kids are older, when work slows down, when you finally get it together.

I know that place. I've lived there.

There came a point in my own life when I realized I wasn't burned out from doing too much. I was burned out from being too far away from myself. I was capable, motivated, and completely stuck all at the same time. The woman who used to feel excited and alive had gotten so quiet I could barely hear her anymore.

What changed for me wasn't a better routine or a stricter plan. It was clarity — real clarity about what I actually wanted, what was getting in the way, and who I was underneath all the managing and doing.

That's exactly what I built Clarity Into Momentum around. Not more to-do's. Not another system to hold together. A clearer path back to you.

You don't need to be fixed. You're not broken. You just need a clearer path — and I believe you already have more inside you than you're giving yourself credit for right now.

You just did something a lot of women never do: you slowed down long enough to tell yourself the truth. That clarity is valuable. And you don't have to figure out what to do with it alone.

If something in this kit stirred something in you, I'd love to talk. The free 30-minute Clarity Call is simply a quiet conversation about what you're seeing and what might help next. No pressure. No pitch. No decision required.

With warmth,

Cylee
